Inkhorn Review Contributor Agreement

Inkhorn Review, published by Follow the Rabbit LLC (the "Publisher"), and the contributor named below agree as follows.

The work

Contributor (legal name):

Piece(s):

Issue: Release date:

Payment

Inkhorn Review pays $25 per poem, micro or flash piece, and per prose piece of 1,000 words or fewer, and $40 per prose piece over 1,000 words and per piece of printed artwork. Online-only work, art included, is not paid. Payment is sent on the issue's release day by Zelle or PayPal (U.S.) or Wise (elsewhere). Payment on initial publication covers all uses described in this agreement.

Amount due for this piece:

Choose one (required):

- [ ] Cash payment of the amount above
- [ ] One-year Print subscription to Inkhorn Review (four quarterly issues mailed, plus the ebook of each) instead of cash

If you chose cash, payment method:

Payment details (Zelle or PayPal email or phone; or Wise email), if you chose cash:

Rights

You grant Inkhorn Review, published by Follow the Rabbit LLC, and its successors and assigns first serial rights; the right to keep the work in our online archive; the right to reprint it in anthologies drawn from Inkhorn's own archive; and the right to read it aloud on our podcast, Life on Words. For artwork, this also includes the non-exclusive right to use the image in promotion of the issue in which it appears. Payment upon initial publication covers all uses.

We will not use your work to train AI models, and we will not license it to anyone who does.

All other rights remain with you, and all rights revert to you on publication. You may reprint your work wherever you like; we only ask that Inkhorn Review be credited as the first publisher.

You confirm the work is yours and has not been previously published. A personal blog, newsletter, or public social media post counts as published; work shared only in a workshop or private group is fine.

Deadline

Your piece has already been published and will stay published. Please sign by the date below. If you have not chosen between cash and the Print subscription by then, you will be paid the cash.

Signing deadline:

For the print edition

Name as it should appear in print:

Bio (50 words or fewer):

Mailing address (or write "outside the U.S."):

Signature

Signature:

Date: